Crew Information

It's time to select the crew for the mission.

You need to select a Captain and a First Officer, two Technical Crew and a Doctor.

Experience level and personal issues are shown for all crew members together with a short introduction.

The technical crew is competent as both paramedics and system operators, but with different level of experience in the different areas.

Take a good look at the crewmembers and together select the crew, that you think can win the game for you, taking their experience and personal issues into consideration. Would it be a crewmember that you could work with as well?

You are able to change the crewmembers until you confirm your final choice. Your group need to agree on the final choice before you confirm.

The result of your choice is displayed on the screen as Crew Experience together with a list of personal issues.

Waiting For Facilitator...

The Facilitator will start the Game or open up for a new phase in the game.
